Course Description

The course is the continuation of the JAP1201 or the JAP1202 course and continues to develop students' ability to use Japanese for communicative purposes and to raise their awareness of Japanese culture. As with JAP1201 and JAP1202, the emphasis is on providing a stimulating and enjoyable learning experience by allowing students to discover and experience this new culture and language.

The course has been developed with students' instrumental motivation in mind and is aiming to give them a foundation to prepare for Japanese Language Proficiency Test Level N5.

Important Notes

There is a HKD$900 course fee for non credit-bearing courses;

Students are not permitted to take any non credit-bearing course AND its equivalent credit-bearing course, whether concurrently or in succession; they must choose one or the other. If a student is subsequently found to have acquired additional credits by this means, an "F" grade will be given for the course.

For more information on additional language courses, please find from our website,
<http://www.ln.edu.hk/ceal/courses/addlang.php>

Aims

The main aims of this course are to:

- provide you with much further language tools to communicate both orally and in writing at an intermediate level in Japanese
- much further develop your confidence in your ability to communicate in Japanese in a variety of social situations
- maintain your interest by continuing to provide varied, engaging and interactive activities
- much further increase your awareness of the global workplace through being exposed to aspects of Japanese culture

Intended Learning Outcomes

Upon successful completion of the JAP301/1301 course, you will:

- be able to use key linguistic features in Japanese including transformation of verbs and the plain speech style.
- be able to exchange limited information on familiar and routine operational matters.
- be able to get simple information about travel, use public transport: buses, trains, and taxis, ask and give directions, and buy tickets.
- be able to ask for and give directions referring to a map or plan.
- be able to communicate in simple and routine tasks requiring a simple and direct exchange of information on familiar and routine matters to do with work and free time. Can handle very short social exchanges but is rarely able to understand enough to keep conversation going of his/her own accord.
- be able to write a series of simple phrases and sentences about their family, living conditions, educational background, present or most recent job.
- be able to understand phrases and expressions related to areas of most immediate priority (e.g. very basic personal and family information, shopping, local geography, employment) provided speech is clearly and slowly articulated.
- be able to understand short, simple texts containing the highest frequency vocabulary, including a proportion of shared international vocabulary items.
- be able to understand simple instructions on equipment encountered in everyday life - such as a public telephone.
- be able to describe his/her family, living conditions, educational background, present or most recent job.
- be able to describe people, places and possessions in simple terms.

Indicative Content

Upon successful completion of this course, students will:

- will be able to use key linguistic features in Japanese, including transformation of verbs and the plain speech style
- have acquired additional communication skills and capable of differentiating different levels of politeness of Japanese
- have much further developed vocabulary linked to everyday social exchanges, professional exchanges and home-related topics

Teaching Method

Students will work on a wide range of communicative tasks and activities individually, in pairs or in small groups.

The main teaching focus will be on using a communicative language teaching methodology and learner-centred methods of learning to encourage students to use and explore the new language for everyday communicative purposes. Since the teaching method will focus on oral communication and helping students to develop their confidence in learning and using Japanese, a maximum class size of 20 will be set.

Important Notes:

- (1) Students are expected to spend a total of 9 hours (i.e. 3 hours of class contact and 6 hours of personal study) per week to achieve the course learning outcomes.
- (2) Students shall be aware of the University regulations about dishonest practice in course work, tests and examinations, and the possible consequences as stipulated in the Regulations Governing University Examinations. In particular, plagiarism, being a kind of dishonest practice, is “the presentation of another person’s work without proper acknowledgement of the source, including exact phrases, or summarised ideas, or even footnotes/citations, whether protected by copyright or not, as the student’s own work”. Students are required to strictly follow university regulations governing academic integrity and honesty.
- (3) Students are required to submit writing assignment(s) using Turnitin.
- (4) To enhance students’ understanding of plagiarism, a mini-course “Online Tutorial on Plagiarism Awareness” is available on <https://pla.ln.edu.hk/>.
