Course Description

This course introduces to students different aspects of the Hong Kong economy, including its achievements, the challenges it faces, and how policies may or may not help its overall performance.

Aims

This course aims to equip students with the knowledge of both the historical development of the Hong Kong economy and the current challenges that it faces. It also intends to teach students to apply basic economic theories to conduct the real world analysis of the Hong Kong economy.

Learning Outcomes (LOs)

Upon completion of this course, students are expected to be able to

- 1. Understand the major issues, challenges, opportunities and the relevant policies and institutions of the Hong Kong economy;
- 2. Analyze the issues, challenges, opportunities and the relevant policies and institutions of the Hong Kong economy using basic economic principles;
- 3. Articulate ideas about these issues, challenges, opportunities, policies and institutions of the Hong Kong economy.

Indicative Contents

- 1. Course introduction
- 2. Hong Kong economy's performance over the years: an overview
- 3. Hong Kong's public finance
- 4. Hong Kong's exchange rate system

Term 2, AY2022-23

Teaching Method

There will be a two-hour lecture plus a one-hour tutorial per week. The two-hour lectures focus on discussing basic concepts and theories underlying major economic issues and policies in Hong Kong. Tutorials take the form of student presentations and discussions.

Measurement of Learning Outcomes

Learning outcomes are measured by:

- 1. Lectures and tutorials provide students opportunities to actively participate in class discussion and demonstrate their analytical and articulation skills (LO 1, 2 and 3).
- 2. Group presentation allows students to conduct collaborative research, analyze Hong Kong's economic and social issues with basic economic principles, and articulate their ideas on Hong Kong's economy (LO 1, 2 and 3).
- 3. Midterm and final exams let students show how well they master the course materials in the middle and at the end of the semester (LOs 1 and 2).

Assessment

Continuous assessment	60%
Participation in lectures and tutorials	10%
Group Presentation	20%
Mid Examination	30%
Final Examination	40%

Good Practices

- 1. Each presentation group is required to meet the instructor/tutor and hand in the outline for discussion before the presentation.
- 2. All necessary course materials and readings are uploaded at the course web site at the beginning of the term. Students are asked to read the lecture notes beforehand and being well prepared for classes and presentations.
- 3. Group presentation provides a good chance to lift up the English proficiency of the students. They are expected to present their research findings in English fluently and confidently. Students are encouraged to form presentation groups with exchange students so that they are exposed to different cultural background and knowledge structures from different regions and countries.
- 4. The instructor will give immediate comments and suggestions for further improvements to tutorial presentations to students. Students have full interactions with the instructor and their peers about the feedbacks and suggestions in tutorial sessions and also during office hours provided by the instructor.
