

Redefining Asian Pacific Higher Education in Dynamic Global Contexts
Christopher Collins and Deane Neubauer, Editors

Introduction—Deane Neubauer and Christopher Collins

Chapter 1: Siu-yau Lee, The Perception of Higher Education as a Public Good: The Case of Hong Kong

Chapter 2: Chiara Logli, Higher Education and the Public Good in Indonesia: Creating inclusive and diverse national universities in the era of globalization

Chapter 3: Stephanie Kim, Redefining Internationalization: Reverse Student Mobility in South Korea

Chapter 4: Munir Shuib and Siti Norbaya Azizan, Emerging Practices in University-Community Engagement in Malaysia

Chapter 5: Cheng-Cheng Yang, Seeking a Redefinition of Higher Education by Exploring Changing Dynamics of Higher Education Expansion and Corresponding Policies in Taiwan

Chapter 6: Frederique Bouilheres, Improving feedback in an International University in South-East Asia: lecturer and student perspectives

Chapter 7: Aki Yamada, Globalization, Higher Education Massification and the Direction of STEM Fields for East Asian Education and Individuals

Chapter 8: Ahmad Nurulazam Md Zain, Integrating Research into Teaching in the APEX University in Malaysia

Conclusion: Christopher Collins and Deane Neubauer