I. PREAMBLE

Lingnan University (“The University”) is responsible for managing any crises and incidents that occur on its campus, or those that occur outside its campus but affect the University’s operation and reputation. To minimise the risk to its staff, students, the community, and the environment, the University has formulated this Crisis Management Plan (“the Plan”). The Plan provides a framework for managing the University’s actions and operations when responding to crises and incidents.

The Plan also provides the management structure, key responsibilities, and general procedures that must be followed during, and immediately after, a crisis or an incident has been identified. Since a crisis may arise suddenly and without warning, these procedures are designed to be flexible in order to accommodate contingencies of various types and magnitudes.

The Plan has been developed with the following priorities:

- (a) To protect and preserve human life, health, and well-being.
- (b) To minimise damage to the natural environment.
- (c) To minimise loss, damage or disruption to the University’s facilities, resources, technology, information, and operations.
- (d) To preserve or restore the reputation of the University.
- (e) To facilitate communication and information exchange during crises/incidents.
- (f) To support decision-making and action plans for managing crises/incidents.

II. CRISIS MANAGEMENT POLICY STATEMENT

1. Introduction

- 1.1 The University is committed to safeguarding the well-being and safety of its staff, students and other relevant stakeholders. It recognises the need to prepare for crises and incidents, as well as the need to restore the operations of the University as quickly as possible after any crisis or incident.
- 1.2 To demonstrate the University's commitment to crisis management, the University has established a crisis management structure, and developed the Plan which consists of a set of appropriate procedures and guidelines, to ensure that all crises and incidents are managed effectively.
- 1.3 This Policy Statement: (i) outlines the University's approach to crisis management; (ii) describes the operational framework and the roles and responsibilities of those involved in the management of crises and incidents; and (iii) provides information to the University community about crisis management at the University.

2. Scope and definition

- 2.1 This Policy Statement and the supporting Crisis Management Plan apply to all stakeholders including, but not limited to, students, faculty and staff of the University, and shall be adopted across the University.
- 2.2 Possible crises/incidents covered under this Policy Statement include, but are not limited to, the following:
 - (a) Suicide, injury or catastrophic event related to staff; acts of violence or criminal behaviours committed by staff; workforce interruptions.
 - (b) Suicide, injury or catastrophic event related to students; acts of violence or criminal behaviour committed by students.
 - (c) Damage to buildings or facilities that affect campus safety; incidents that affect campus safety; natural disasters or pandemics that affect personal safety and health on campus.
 - (d) Scandals relating to plagiarism or other ethical failures that elicit negative views about the University and/or its faculty.
 - (e) Scandals or negative news relating to the quality or reputation of academic programmes.
 - (f) Lawsuits, investigations or negative news coverage that have the potential to damage the University's reputation and image.
 - (g) Failures of event management that threaten personal safety, or have the potential to damage the University's reputation and image.
 - (h) Incidents affecting the financial stability of the University.
 - (i) Damage to IT security system or other affiliated technologies; breach of personal data privacy.
 - (j) Other incidents which, in the judgement of the President of Lingnan University, require active management to avoid or minimise damage to faculty and staff, students, and other major stakeholders, and/or the University's reputation.

2. Identification of incidents and risk-rating matrix

2.1 Incidents should be identified and classified according to the severity of their impact/consequences and the frequency of incident occurrence outlined below:

	Severity of Impact / Consequences
	Low Severity	Moderate Severity	High Severity
High (Probable) Frequency	Moderate Incident	Crisis	Crisis
Medium (Possible) Frequency	Limited Incident	Moderate Incident	Crisis
Low (Remote) Frequency	Limited Incident	Limited Incident	Moderate Incident

2.2 Severity of impact (or vulnerability) is assessed by (a) control effectiveness, (b) complexity, (c) number of transactions/processes/people affected, and (d) the degree of reliance on external parties.

3. Levels of crisis and response framework

3.1 Level 1 – Limited Incident

A Limited Incident includes any incident, potential or actual, which will not seriously affect the overall functional capacity of the University but nevertheless requires some degree of action. Level 1 Limited Incidents do not require activation of the Crisis Management Plan, although part of the plan may be utilised. The IRT concerned should gather, analyse and validate the accuracy of information pertaining to the Limited Incident, and recommend various courses of action for the IRT leader's approval within 24 hours of the incident. IRT leader should clearly document the handling of the incident, and alert the CMT, where appropriate, if the incident has the potential to develop into a Level 2 Moderate Incident. After the response to the incident has been completed, the IRT should continue to monitor the situation for one week.

3.2 Level 2 – Moderate Incident

A Moderate Incident includes an incident, potential or actual, which is more serious than a Limited Incident in terms of scope, impact and/or frequency of occurrence. The IRT concerned should gather, analyse and validate the accuracy of the information pertaining to a Moderate Incident. The IRT leader should determine whether an incident should be reported to the CMT. If an incident has the potential to turn into a Crisis, the IRT leader is expected to report it to the CMT and recommend various courses of action for the CMT's comment and approval as soon as practicable and, in any event, within 12 hours of the incident. The IRT leader should also report the phases of incident management to the CMT every 48 hours (or more frequently if necessary) and seek advice from the CMT as and when appropriate. After the response to the incident has been completed, the IRT should continue to monitor the situation for two weeks.

3.3 Level 3 – Crisis

A Crisis is an incident which poses a major risk to University personnel or resources and has caused, or has the potential to cause, fatalities, injuries or major damage to property, or has caused, or has the potential to cause, serious damage to the University's reputation and image. On receiving notification of a Crisis, the IRT leader concerned should report to the CMT. The IRT should gather, analyse and validate the accuracy of the information pertaining to the Crisis, and recommend various courses of action to the CMT as soon as practicable and, in any event, within 3 hours of the Crisis. A Level 3 Crisis should be declared by the President. The IRT leader shall provide Situation Reports to the CMT through the CMT WhatsApp group every 24 hours to ensure effective communication among the CMT members and to facilitate the decision-making process of the CMT. The CMT should seek advice from the CLT before making critical decisions. After the response to the Crisis has been completed, the IRT should continue to monitor the situation for one month.

- 3.4 The above response framework serves as a general reference for IRT leaders in handling crises/incidents. Each event or incident is unique, and may call for modified responses. The IRT leaders shall have the discretion to respond to individual crisis/incident based on their understanding of the situation as well as their experience and judgment in handling crises/incidents. They are advised to consult the CMT if the recommended response framework could not be followed.

4. Declaration of crisis

An incident can impact the people, facilities, assets, technologies, operations and/or reputation of the University. It is important to evaluate an incident or event to determine if it may have impacted the University in some way and to determine whether a crisis should be declared. The following process is only intended to assist the CLT/CMT to determine if a crisis should be declared and the questions for consideration are not exhaustive.

Steps to Determine if an Event or Incident is a Crisis

IV. INCIDENT/CRISIS COMMUNICATION

1. Whenever an incident/crisis involving the University occurs, or is predicted to occur, the IRT leader concerned should be notified immediately. S/he should determine the level of the incident/crisis and report the incident/crisis to the CMT, as appropriate, and consult the CMT, where necessary, regarding the situation and possible need to declare a Crisis. The authority to declare a Crisis rests with the President. If the President is involved in a crisis situation, a member of the University Council leadership will serve as the Acting Chairman of the CLT and Vice-President will serve as the Acting Chairman of the CMT.
2. All IRT leaders are expected to immediately report to the CMT all incidents that may develop into a Crisis and actual Crisis via the CMT WhatsApp group. If an IRT leader is unable to make the report, his/her acting IRT leaders (who are not part of the CMT WhatsApp Group) should do so by emailing the CMT Secretary, who will then relay the message to the CMT.
3. If a Crisis is declared, the President, as the Chairman of the CMT, will activate the CMT as quickly as possible to determine the University's response or action.
4. As soon as the Chairman of the CMT declares a Crisis, the PIO will contact the University switchboard (tel: 2616 8888) and, if necessary, send an alert to the relevant staff members to advise that all media calls be referred to the Office of Communications and Public Affairs (OCPA). Enquiries from the general public, families, friends, etc. should be directed to OCPA.
5. When a crisis is declared, the relevant IRT leader and the PIO will jointly prepare a factsheet for the CMT's review and approval. This factsheet should then be given to the appropriate University personnel.
6. For further details of incident/crisis communication, please refer to Appendix C, the Crisis Communication Plan.

V. POST INCIDENT/CRISIS MANAGEMENT

1. The end of incident/crisis

The CMT will determine if and when an incident/crisis has ended based on the advice of the relevant IRT leader. The relevant IRT leader is responsible for ensuring that all necessary actions have been taken to control, solve and end the incident/crisis. The relevant IRT leader must monitor a Limited Incident (for one week), a Moderate Incident (for two weeks), or a Crisis (for one month) after it has ended. The relevant IRT leader must also identify additional actions required to eliminate or minimise the development of a similar incident/crisis in the future.

2. Record keeping

2.1 Crisis/Incident Management Report

The relevant IRT leader is responsible for submitting a crisis/incident management report which records the key actions and decisions taken, along with situational information relevant to the crisis/incident, to the CMT Secretariat after the end of the crisis/incident, using the following template:

Crisis/Incident Management Report
Incident Response Team:
Prepared by (IRT leader):
Date of report:
Type of crisis/incident
Level of crisis/incident
Start date of crisis/incident
End date of crisis/incident
Overall summary of crisis/incident
Time of reporting to IRT / CMT / CLT
Time of approving course of actions by IRT leader / CMT / CLT
Key actions and decision-

making process
Lessons learned

2.2 Keeping records of crises

In the case of a Crisis, the relevant IRT leader shall be responsible for submitting a report using the above template to the CMT Secretariat within 10 days of the end of the crisis.

2.3 Keeping records of incidents

Regarding Limited Incidents and Moderate Incidents, the relevant IRT leader shall be responsible for preparing and submitting all reports using the above template to the CMT Secretariat at the end of each semester.

2.4 CMT WhatsApp group

Although the CMT WhatsApp group serves as a platform for communication between CMT members, the messages exchanged on the platform do not serve as a formal record of crises/incidents.

2.5 Post-Crisis evaluation

A critique of the overall response to a Crisis shall take place at a post-Crisis meeting of the CMT. A summary of the critical examination made after the crisis should be shared with those colleagues who may face a similar Crisis in the future. The critical examination should serve to improve the ability of the University to plan for, and respond to, actual crises or situations that may lead to a Crisis.

3. Updating

3.1 The Plan, together with its appendices, shall be reviewed and updated at least once a year by the CLT. The Office of the President shall oversee updates of the Emergency Call Tree.

3.2 Regular meetings at the IRT level should be held quarterly, while regular meetings at the CMT level should be held biannually to review the handling of crises/incidents.

3.3 The CLT, in consultation with the Risk Management Committee (RMC), shall identify new crises/incidents, if any, when reviewing the Plan.

VI. EDUCATION AND TRAINING

1. Education/training is a critical component of the success of the Plan. Periodic education and training in a variety of formats will be provided to the CLT, CMT, IRT, university officials, facility management staff, Deans, Department Heads and others as deemed appropriate. The content of the training will include possible types of crises, the handling and management of crises, guidelines for responding to media inquiries during a Crisis, and the responsibilities of various functional areas during a Crisis.
2. All Deans and Department Heads should act in accordance with the procedures set out in the Plan. Deans and Department Heads should educate their staff and students about the emergency procedures and evacuation procedures in accordance with the Safety Manual (Appendix D) and other prevailing plan(s) and manual(s).

VII. ENQUIRIES

1. For general enquiries about the Crisis Management Plan, please contact the CMT Secretariat at cm_po@Ln.edu.hk. For specific enquiries about the Incident Management Plans, please contact relevant IRT leaders.
