Welcome to Ipag

The Institut de Préparation à l'administration et à la Gestion (Ipag) established in 1965 is an accredited Business School in France with two campuses, one in the centre of Paris and the other in Nice.

Ipag welcomed over 1800 students in 2013/2014 (700 of whom were international students who came to study for one semester or for the full year.).

This guidebook is for exchange students who have either been admitted to study at Ipag or would like to study in this institution.

In this guide, you will find specific information that should help you to adapt during your period of study in France and at Ipag.

Once you have arrived and during the orientation sessions, additional information will be given to you.

If you have any issues or queries regarding your academic life and programme of study, do not hesitate to contact the International Office. They will also be available to offer you advice should you need any to enjoy your time and gain enriching experiences in France.

*Both Contacts for Nice and Paris campuses can be found at the end of this booklet

Ipag Paris

Situated in one of the most beautiful cities in the world, as well as being the capital of France, Paris is an exceptional place.

Paris, the city of lights, music, fashion, food, education, entertainment, politics and the arts, is one of the world's leading business and cultural centres which contributes to its global appeal.

With its iconic landmarks and monuments such as Notre Dame de Paris, the Eiffel Tower, La Défense (Grand Arche), the Louvre museum and numerous parks, it is no wonder it's the most visited city in the world.

Ipag Paris is located in the district of Saint Germain-des-Prés (in the heart of Paris), it is surrounded by numerous restaurants, universities, grandes écoles (business schools), and famous libraries making it an ideal place to study.

Apart from the Saint-Germain campus, Ipag also has two other sites (all within walking distance of each other) offering additional classrooms, a library (rue des Cassettes) and computer facilities at rue de Dragon.

Ipag Nice

Ipag Nice, located in the south of France is the second most visited place in France after Paris. Nice is the Mediterranean's largest resort as well as the fifth largest city in France.

Its temperate winters and lush subtropical climate have attracted students from all around the world for decades. It is the capital of the Riviera par excellence, and is an educational, business, and tourism centre. Students will enjoy Nice's many museums, excellent beaches, fine cuisines, and the festive street life.

The Ipag campus is positioned in the centre of the city and within walking distance to conveniences such as shops, restaurants, libraries, transport connections. Students have the opportunity to travel to Monaco, Cannes, Menton and other surrounding places for 1euro by bus.

Ipag is pleased to announce the arrival of International House (International language centre) which will be working closely with Ipag to provide tailor-made French language classes to students who are interested in taking their basic French skills learned at Ipag to a higher level.

Become an Ipag exchange student (1)

Application Procedure

If you are a student who is interested in following an exchange programme at Ipag, you should contact the International Office or Study Abroad unit at your university to check if a partnership agreement between your university and Ipag exists.

Once there is an agreement in place, the responsible officer at your institution will be able to inform you of the application deadlines and courses available.

Entry Requirements

The main requirement is that you must have completed at least one year of Higher Education at your university.

Any pre-requisites for a course must also be fulfilled before you will be fully accepted.

Selection and Acceptance

Provided that you are selected for an exchange, Ipag will send your university all the necessary documents that you need in order to apply and study in France.

If you meet the entry requirements and pre-requisites for relevant modules, and submit all documents by the deadline, you should receive an official acceptance letter from Ipag.

2016-2017	Dates
Semester 1 Paris	12/09/2016 – 16/12/2016
Semester 1 Nice	25/08/2016 – 16/12/2016
Semester 2 Paris	23/01/2017 – 26/05/2017
Semester 2 Nice	26/01/2017 – 26/05/2017

For students whose mother language is not English, you will be required to have the equivalent of a 550 TOEFL score. All courses are delivered in English, therefore an appropriate proficiency in the language is needed.

Become an Ipag exchange student (2)

Academic Year

The academic year is divided into two semesters. Students have the option of study for the whole year or for a semester.

Semester 1 (Fall): starts at the beginning of September until the end of December.

Semester 2 (Spring): starts at the end of January until the end of May.

• These dates do not include reset examinations.

Areas of study

The areas of study accessible to exchange students at Ipag include courses within the fields of: Marketing, Finance & Accounting, Management and Human Resources.

You also have the option of studying at Ipag Paris or Ipag Nice depending on your chosen course.

Learning agreement

All exchange students are expected to complete a learning agreement which should define the courses they wish to follow during the exchange period.

Your learning agreements should be signed by you and the Erasmus coordinator or relevant administrator in your home country before your departure. The agreement will also be signed by Ipag to show that the courses you have chosen are accepted by all parties.

If you need to make any changes to your learning agreement during your studies abroad, please make sure you contact the coordinator from your university to verify the new agreement. You should not make any changes after 2 weeks of commencement. Doing so ensures that you are able to receive the correct number of ECTS credits needed to validate your studies abroad and for your credits to be transferred successfully to your university.

Become an Ipag exchange student (3)

Credit and Transfers

Once a semester or year of study has been completed, students will receive a Transcript of Records stating all of the courses they have studied. Credits will only be awarded to students provided that the course has been completed, and, any required examinations have been passed. Failure to achieve the passing mark indicates that a retake is necessary.

If you have returned to your home country before the re-sit examinations, you will still have the opportunity to retake the necessary exams at your university.

In order to transfer credits successively from one university to another, the European Credit Transfer System (ECTS) is used. A full academic semester is usually equated to 30 ECTS credits. This means that students must ensure that they select enough credits for the study abroad period in order for their courses to be validated by their university.

Teaching Methods

Students are taught through a combination of lectures and seminars. You will be encouraged to take an active part in lessons as professors not only allocate marks for assignments, but also in class participation.

The academic focus at Ipag is based on competence based learning. Students learn to put theory into practice by using the knowledge and skills they have acquired to solve business problems.

Assessments

Whilst you are studying at Ipag, your learning and progression will be assessed in various ways, such as through individual exams, essays, reports and presentations, as well as in individual and group participation.

Each module and course consists of 50% Final Exam mark and 50% for continuous assessments and class participation.

Cost of living in Paris/Nice (1)

Below is a table showing a summary of some of the main costs that you may have during your time in France.

Please note that the figures are only approximates as the costs you will incur will vary depending on your lifestyle choice's.

Food

Nice Campus

There is a cafeteria (open practically all day) in each of the campuses. In the morning you can get breakfast for 2€. After 11.00am, a choice of sandwiches, crisps, snacks, yoghurts, fruits and drinks are available. You will also find vending machines offering sweets as well as cold and hot drinks.

Paris Campus

Vending machines and a little cafeteria can be found on the ground floor of the building Saint-Germain. Ipag Paris has recently opened an additional cafeteria offering sandwiches on rue de Dragon.

You should have a health insurance policy (e.g. European Health Insurance Card and/or private insurance) which should be able to cover you for the whole duration of your time abroad. A copy of this must be attached to your Medical Record Form, which should be returned to the International Office in Ipag upon your arrival.

European students will have to provide Ipag with a copy of European Health Insurance Card. Non-European students will have to bring a copy of a private medical insurance or subscribe to a French medical insurance on arrival.

Transport in France

There are several ways that you can travel to France. This may be by Plane, Train, Coach and Car.

Plane

To travel to Paris, there are two main Airports: Charles de Gaulle (North-east of Paris) and Orly Airport located in the South of Paris.

Both of the Airports have connecting links (RER Trains) which will take you into the centre of Paris

www.aeroportsparis.fr

Nice Airport is located conveniently close to the city centre. There are several buses which run between the Airport and Nice Ville. There is a free shuttle bus which operates between the two terminals.

www.nice.aeroport.fr

Train

Depending on your location or point of travel, you may be able to find trains going to Paris or Nice.

Paris

www.paris.org

Nice

www.tgv-europe.com

Coach

Visit www.eurolines.com to check if it is possible for you to take a coach from your location to France.

Cars

If you decide to come by car, please be careful with your car and your belongings. Do not leave anything that could be stolen in full view. Make sure that you have adequate insurance to cover your car in case it is stolen or broken into.

Nice Campus

Please ensure that you have enough money with you to cover the cost of a taxi ride (if you have a lot of luggage – 60€), bus ride (2€ - 5€) or the metro (12€).

Transports in Paris

If you are in Paris for 1 year and you are younger than 26:

Imagine R package is valid for 1 year and allows you unlimited travel within selected zones. You can move on all modes of Ile-de-France, Metro, RER, Bus, Tram and Train. Whatever the chosen areas, you have free access to all the Ile-de-France, on weekends, public holidays and during school holidays.

If you are in Paris for less than a year or you are older than 26:

Navigo packages are tailored to regular travel in the Ile-de-France. They allow unlimited travel on selected areas at the time of purchase. The Navigo weekly pass is valid from Monday to Sunday, and the Navigo monthly pass is valid from the 1st day of the month to the last. They allow unlimited travel in selected areas. You can take all forms of transport in Ile-de-France: Metro, RER Bus, Tram and Train.

If you want to know the different areas: <http://www.ratp.fr/plan-interactif/>

How do I subscribe?

To subscribe, you must take an inscription document from one of the commercial agencies RATP.

<http://www.navigo.fr/les-forfaits-navigo.html>

Velib

This bike-hire scheme is a fantastic way to get about. For 30€ a year you have unlimited travel (up to 30 mins per trip). It's often the quickest way to travel, especially on short journeys. And you keep fit!

If you're under 25 it's 20€ per year or 30€ for 45mins per trip.

Visit <http://www.velib.paris> to find out more.

Practical Information for Non EU Students

Non-EU students require a visa to enter France and are expected to register with the local Immigration Office within 30 days of arrival if they are staying more than a semester.

You must bring your official Ipag letter of acceptance in your hand luggage as the officials in the French airports will request for it.

Applications must normally be made through the French Embassy or Consulate or Campus France in the applicant's country of permanent residence.

A letter from the International Office is required stating that you have been offered a place in the school and the duration of your study period here. You must also include 3 passport size photographs as well as your passport which must be valid for 6 months after the intended departure date from France. Please note that there is a fee involved.

Visa holders are subject to normal immigration control at the port of entry and should therefore carry with them for possible presentation to Immigration Officers, the originals or copies of the documents submitted with their applications. Visa applicants require a valid visa each time they enter the country. A valid visa does not grant permission to stay in France.

Visa holders who remain in the country longer than the permitted period and/or submitted false or misleading information in support of their application, may become liable for prosecution and/or be subject to deportation. Travel tickets should not be booked or paid for by applicants until their applications have been approved. Those granted visas will be required to register shortly after their arrival with the local authorities for non-EU students staying more than a semester.

New Legislation on opportunities for Non-EU students to work

If you are a non-EU student staying in France for more than one semester, you will be entitled to take up casual employment (defined as part time work up to 20 hours per week) for the duration of your stay. Your entitlement to work ceases upon the expiration of your permission to remain. Please note that being in casual employment in itself, does not grant you further permission to remain.

Practical Information for Non EU Students

Immigration Office

Students staying for more than a semester must register at the Immigration Office, where they will then be granted a permit of residence.

To register, you must bring your passport, a bank statement indicating you have enough money to stay in the country for the duration you are here. You should also take along with you a letter from the Ipag International Office to show you are a full time student, 3 passport pictures, your birth certificate, a rental agreement in France and a stamped envelope.

Finding housing in France

Please note that Ipag campuses have no student accommodation on site, therefore, you will need to find your own place of residence.

While Ipag Business School does not offer student accommodation, students can apply for a room in a student residence hall with another institution. Most of our international students however, prefer private accommodation whether they are enrolled at our Paris or Nice campuses. Ipag Business School can provide students with the details of efficient and trustworthy agencies (p22-25).

Housing is relatively expensive in France, but international students, like French students, enjoy the benefit of housing assistance. Before looking for a place to live in Paris/Nice, students must decide, in light of their financial means and the length of their program, what sort of housing arrangement is best for them. Students are expected to be able to support themselves during their stay in France. Although you are allowed to work part time, you should not rely on this solely to live on.

The majority of students arrive in France having only reserved temporary accommodation in order for them to find roommates and visit apartments. This process usually takes less than a week.

To be eligible, non EU students must be studying in France for at least one academic year. International students, like French students, may be eligible for housing assistance.

There are two types of assistance, depending on the type of housing one occupies. The two forms of assistance, which cannot be combined, are social housing assistance (ALS, allocation de logement à caractère social) and personal housing assistance (APL, aide personnalisée au logement). The amount of assistance varies with the rent to be paid and the student's circumstances. If you are sharing an apartment, you and your roommate may both receive assistance, provided both your names appear on the lease. Information and eligibility criteria can be obtained from the Caisse d'Allocations Familiales (CAF, family assistance fund) serving the area in which you live.

Conventional rentals

If you want to be completely on your own and you are willing to pay the price, your best option may be to rent a room or apartment. They come furnished or unfurnished. Before signing a lease, however, you should visit several places, because the ratio of price to quality can vary widely. In Paris, modest studios rent from 350€ to 650 €, utilities included. Vacancies are advertised in several publications, such as De Particulier à Particulier, www.pap.fr

This weekly publication, available at newstands, appears on Thursday. Get up early that day to improve your chances of finding places that are still available! To rent an apartment you'll need a co-signer or guarantor who lives in France. If you don't have one, property owners are likely to ask you to supply a guarantee from a French bank.

Shared apartments

“J’suis français, espagnol, anglais, danois! J’suis comme l’Europe, j’suis tout ça, j’suis un vrai bordel...” from L’Auberge Espagnole (2002)

The prospect of sharing an apartment with young people from France and other countries evokes Cédric Klapisch’s film, L’Auberge Espagnole. Sharing living space with others is a unique experience - it can be fun, but it can also be a challenge if you discover, as many do, that you’re less tolerant than you thought. With its ups and downs, it’s usually an unforgettable experience.

WHY CHOOSE THEM?

- This is a story of two friends who came to Paris to study, and found it difficult to find suitable accommodation. Despite a good application file and having their parents as guarantors, their search for a student rental property took around 10 days.
- Group visits to apartments, listings of poor quality properties scattered across twenty different websites ... they learnt that finding student accommodation is not easy in some cities. They sought solutions and found nothing. They decided, after finishing their studies, to create a solution for housing students and young professionals.
- Thereafter, thanks to feedback from landlords, tenants and partners IMMOJEUNE evolved and developed simple and effective tools. Renting an apartment, finding a tenant and meeting legal obligations as far as property rental is concerned: the solutions are on IMMOJEUNE.COM.

Finding housing in Paris

Looking for housing in Paris takes time and energy and it can be frustrating! But international students who make the exciting choice to study in Paris are by no means devoid of options. Below you'll find information on some of the possibilities, both short and long-term, available from educational institutions and in the private housing market. You'll also find some valuable general information and the addresses of many useful sites. We can't offer any guarantees, as this type of information changes quickly. But if you'll send us your comments, we'll do our best to improve this document.

What are my others options?

University housing

CROUS (for centres régionaux des oeuvres universitaires et scolaires, France's regional student-service agencies) operate residence halls on or near university campuses. (They also run a network of student dining facilities.) Several plans are offered, from rooms in conventional university residence halls (about €150 a month for a furnished room averaging 9m² with shared baths, kitchens, and study areas) to studios (about €250 for a furnished apartment with kitchenette and private bath).

Students seeking housing in a Cité U (cité universitaire, or campus housing complex), must apply to CROUS between January and April. Places are allocated based on various social criteria; recipients of French government scholarships have first priority. The odds of getting a room in a Cité U depend on the number of available places. In the Paris region, places are always very scarce.

La Cité Internationale Universitaire de Paris (Cité U)

The 39 buildings of the Cité U in Paris offer very nice accommodations, but they are restricted to doctoral candidates and postdoctoral scholars. The residents, from many nations, enjoy cultural events and the usual student facilities. Rents average €500 per month. Admission is by application.
