Host and Secretariat: Mahidol University International College and Lingnan University

As we attempt to navigate through dangerous waters, the current economic and political climate has probably never been as challenging for international business. The theme for this year's conference is the 5Rs. First, businesses are facing difficult times ahead and need to consider their recovery strategies. Likewise, there is a need to rebound, i.e., spring back after the damaging impact that several wars are inflicting on trade. Third, the challenge is to maintain resilience through these difficult periods. Fourth, perhaps regionalization offers a safe haven for businesses to continue to resurrect their international trade efforts, and finally, arguably it is important for us to advocate being more responsible for our actions and how we can help contribute to a sustainable future. We welcome papers across all topics and disciplines surrounding international business. In particular, we invite papers that can further expand on these 5Rs across any aspect of management and business.

As normal, we will accept both competitive papers as well as we encourage work in progress papers from scholars in either emerging markets or developed nations from within and outside the Asia Pacific region. The conference has long been trying to support early career scholars and provide them with an opportunity to brush shoulders with our most senior AIB fellows. This conference will be hosted in a friendly and welcoming manner, so please come along and expect to enjoy your time!!!

*Global Education Management - Special Track

As mentioned in the call, and building on last year's success, we will add a track aimed at exploring Global Education Management. We welcome papers on areas including cross cultural issues in higher education, pedagogy and best practice in international management surrounding universities and students. This dedicated track will be established over the duration of the conference, with a special plenary session taking place on Friday morning, following the traditional three-day conference.

Format and Important Dates

- Submit an electronic copy of your abstract or full paper by 30 August 2026 (Sunday) via the following link:
<https://www.ln.edu.hk/oge/aib-asia-pacific-chapter/conference2026-cfp>.
 - If submitting a full competitive paper, please follow guidelines and style of the Journal of International Business Studies (JIBS, <http://www.jibs.net>).
- Acceptance notifications will be sent within one week of submission. The author(s) must certify that the work is not copyrighted and has not been published elsewhere.
- Abstracts and competitive papers will be arranged for presentation ONLY if at least one of the authors registers for the conference.
- An individual author may not appear on more than two manuscripts.
- The programme will be announced around one month before the start of the conference.

Conference Proceedings

Accepted extended abstracts will be included in the Conference Proceedings.

Best Paper Awards

Best papers will be given to one paper in each track, and an overall best paper will be presented in memory of our colleague Dr Esther Li Ling Yee.

About Pattaya, Thailand

Beyond its reputation as a resort city, Pattaya reflects Thailand's broader trajectory of economic and cultural development. The city's growth has been supported by significant investment in transport, accommodation, and international services, positioning it as a hub for both regional and global visitors. At the same time, Pattaya retains elements of traditional Thai culture, visible in its temples, local crafts, and culinary traditions, offering participants a meaningful encounter with the country's heritage alongside modern conveniences. Thailand itself is widely recognized for its role in higher education, international collaboration, and cultural exchange within Southeast Asia. With a long history of welcoming international students and scholars, Thailand exemplifies the intersection of tradition and globalization in education.

About Mahidol University

Mahidol University traces its origins to the establishment of Siriraj Hospital in 1888, which later became Thailand's first medical school. Officially founded as the University of Medical Sciences in 1943, it was renamed in 1969 in honor of Prince Mahidol of Songkla, revered as the Father of Modern Medicine and Public Health in Thailand. Today, Mahidol is an autonomous public research university with multiple campuses across Bangkok and provincial regions, offering programs in medicine, science, social sciences, liberal arts, and the humanities. It consistently ranks among the top universities in Asia, with a reputation for rigorous academic standards and impactful research. For more information, please visit: <https://mahidol.ac.th/>.

Visa and Travel Information

Thailand offers visa-free entry to citizens from most countries and territories. To check if you are the unlucky one who needs a visa please visit: <https://www.thaievisa.go.th>.
