Congratulation to Professor SIU and Professor KÜHNER

Professor SIU took up the role of the Dean of Faculty of Social Sciences starting from 15 June 2019, and promoted to Chair Professor with effect from 16 August 2019.

Professor KÜHNER was appointed as the Programme Director, Bachelor of Social Sciences (Hons) Programme, with effect from 16 August 2019.

Welcome to the Faculty

Prof. QIU Dongxiao Larry
Sydney S. W. Leong Chair Professor of Economics
Head, Department of Economics

Professor Larry Dongxiao QIU obtained his Bachelor of Science degree in Mathematics from Zhongshan University, China, in 1983. He also holds a Master of Arts degree in Economics in 1989 and Ph.D. degree in Economics in 1993 from the University of British Columbia, Canada. He then joined Hong Kong University of Science and Technology in 1993 as Assistant Professor and later became an Associate Professor and Professor there. He moved to The University of Hong Kong in January 2008 as a Professor before joining Lingnan in 2020.

Prof. Qiu's research covers a wide range of topics, with focuses on industrial organization, international trade and foreign direct investment (FDI). In the field of industrial organization, he is interested in issues such as R&D and M&As. In the field of international trade, he has studied the optimal design of strategic trade policies, the impacts of intellectual property right (IPR) protection on international trade, and the impacts of environment policies on technology transfer. In the field of FDI, he analyzes cross-border M&As, strategic alliances and technology transfer. He has also done some research on China's foreign trade and FDI. He has published extensively in international journals and books. Larry has taught a variety of courses at all levels (undergraduate, master, MBA, EMBA, Ph.D. and as well as executive training) and in many places including China, Hong Kong and Portugal. Examples of his courses include globalization, international trade and finance, China's industry analysis, and foreign trade and investment in China.

Prof. Qiu's research has received a number of research grants from the HKSAR Government. He has conducted several consultant projects for the HKSAR Government and Asia Development Bank.

Welcome to the Faculty

Prof. AU YEUNG Tat Chor, Assistant Professor
Department of Sociology and Social Policy

Tat Chor Au-Yeung received his PhD in social policy from the University of Sheffield. Before doing the postgraduate study, he worked as a community organiser advocating policy changes for poverty reduction. He joined the department in August 2019. Prior to joining Lingnan University, he had taught social work at the Chinese University of Hong Kong. His research interests include social security, labour market policies, and precarious employment. He also extensively collaborates with NGOs and unions to promote social and labour rights in Hong Kong and beyond.

Welcome to the Faculty

Prof. CHIU Tuen Yi Jenny, Assistant Professor
Department of Sociology and Social Policy

Prof. CHIU Tuen Yi, Jenny has joined the Department of Sociology and Social Policy in August 2019. She obtained her Ph.D. in Sociology from The Chinese University of Hong Kong and was Visiting Fellow at Harvard-Yenching Institute, Harvard University (2014-2015). Prior to joining Lingnan, she was Research Assistant Professor at The University of Hong Kong (2019) and Postdoctoral Fellow at the Asia Research Institute at National University of Singapore (2017-2018). Her current research projects include cross-border marriage migration and transnational grandparenting in Asia Pacific. Apart from migration, gender, family, and ageing, she is also interested in intergenerational relations and violence in intimate relationships. She has published articles in Journal of Ethnic and Migration Studies, Population, Space and Place, Gender, Place and Culture, Violence Against Women and Current Sociology.

Welcome to the Faculty

Prof. TANG Lynn, Assistant Professor
Department of Sociology and Social Policy

I am very glad to join Lingnan University, where the value of liberal arts education is being treasured. I completed my PhD study in Sociology at the University of Warwick and have working experiences in the United Kingdom and Hong Kong. In the UK, I worked at the Centre of Excellence for Interdisciplinary Mental Health, the University of Birmingham. In Hong Kong, I was an Assistant Professor at the School of Arts and Humanities at Tung Wah College, and an Assistant Professor (Research) at the HKJC Centre for Suicide Research and Prevention at the University of Hong Kong. My main research area is mental health, inequalities and related policies and I have published a book Recovery, Mental Health and Inequality 2017, Routledge. I have also researched on topics such as migration, ethnicity, gender, labour and civil society. I look forward to working with colleagues here to develop meaningful research and help students flourish.

Welcome to the Faculty

Prof. LAI Yuen Shan Ruby, Research Assistant Professor
Department of Sociology and Social Policy

Ruby Lai Yuen Shan received her PhD in Sociology from the Chinese University of Hong Kong. Her research interests revolve around gender, family, reproductive politics, and ethnicity in Hong Kong and China. Her doctoral research explores how reproductive choices of young Chinese women are shaped by structural forces such as the state policies, the labor market, and the interpersonal dynamics within the changing family and sexual culture in China. Her other works look at the lives of new immigrants and ethnic minorities in Hong Kong. She was a Fulbright junior scholar at UCLA in 2018.

Five Year Programme Review

After the BSocSc Programme Review in 2014, The Programme had its Five Year Programme Review in 2019-2020 AY. A comprehensive Review Document was prepared for the Five Year Programme Review Meeting on 26 May 2020. External Reviewers, graduates and current students were invited to meet with our Faculty members. Valuable feedbacks received at the meeting will be discussed/considered for the future development of the Programme.

Social Sciences Faculty Retreat

In view of the Coronavirus Disease (COVID-19), unlike previous years, the Social Sciences Faculty and Departments of Applied Psychology, Economics, Political Science, and Sociology & Social Policy had its annual Retreat on campus on 1 June 2020. A half day meeting started with the introduction session from the Programme Director on chosen topics, followed by small group discussion. Colleagues voiced and exchanged views on issues relating to the development of the Programme, teaching and learning, and research areas.

Williams Winter Study

Professor Gregory Whitten from the Economics Department led a group of 8 Lingnan University students to Williams College, a renowned liberal arts college established in 1793 in western Massachusetts, from 6 Jan to 31 Jan 2020. Sponsored jointly with Williams' Department of Asian Studies, the programme paired each Lingnan student with a Williams "study buddy" where both took the same 1-month course during Williams' Winter Study term. Classes taken include "Solution design and product management," "Socialism in Asia," "Planets and the Search for Life," and "Introduction to tap dancing."

Students also joined the weekly Chinese conversation table to help Williams students and community members practice their Putonghua and Cantonese. Prof. Whitten gave a lecture to the Williams community on the US-China trade war while Prof. Sam Crane, Chair of Asian Studies and the Edward S. Greenbaum 1910 Professor of Political Science of Williams College, gave a talk on the impeachment trial of US President Donald Trump to the Lingnan students. In their spare time, students visited the Williams historical museum, the world-famous Clark Art Institute, and a local ski slope where students benefitted from the copious snow that fell during their visit!

Experiential Learning: SSC4339 Global Health Field Trip

Experiential learning is an integral part of Liberal Arts education and the Department of Sociology and Social Policy strongly supports it. Students are given many opportunities to experience 'out of classroom' learning with different communities. SSC4339 Global Health students visited the Hong Kong Museum of Medical Sciences on 17 October 2019.
